LONG DAYS JOURNEY

Psyched to be back at school, Kerry Kilduff, Sue MacDonald, and Kerry Berchtold get together before homeroom. McGrath

Juggling tennis balls and bottles of glue, Stephen Ericson and Tony Mazarella kill some time after school. McGrath

Taking a stroll around school grounds during the Peace Picnic, Larry Kwong and his iguana, Iggy, enjoyed one of the first seventy degree days of the summer. McGrath

THAYER PUBLIC LIBRARY
BRAINTREE, MA. 02184

While letting their newly painted blue feet dry, Erin Keefe and Melissa McVay relax after decorating barrels at the Peace Picnic. Minutes later, Melissa cut open her foot and was rushed to get medical help. McGrath

Their faces mirrored racing thoughts as students entered school on September fifth. Seniors realized that their final year would be both nerve racking and exciting. College applications and the long road ahead to graduation would become major aspects of the journey throughout senior year.

The excitement of seeing old friends again brightened faces on the first day as students greeted eachother and compared schedules. The day held a few faculty surprises with the addition of new teachers Mr. Denise, Ms. Rochon and Mr. Moon and secretaries Mrs. Conville, Mrs. McGinn, and Ms. Frasier. Coming into school, students gasped when they saw the rugless pit and the newly painted halls.

The long and winding road ahead would present new challenges academically and otherwise to lead students closer to the end of their high school days. Erin Murphy

On the first day of school, freshmen Meghan Kelly, Kaitlyn Frazier, and Erin Connolly walk into school clad in shorts and tee shirts. The days during early September were too hot to wear anything else.

Before school Jenny Frazier strikes a pose in the pit.

Hanging out in the first floor locker section, sophomores Joe Donovan, Nancy Kelly, Eileen Kelly, and Liz Glynn exchange news before going to homeroom. McGrath

Sitting in the auditorium, Bob Lockhart contemplates Mr. Wassel's welcome back speech. McGrath

LONG DAYS JOURNEY

Students made the most of their last long summer days by hurriedly scooping up notebooks, pencils, and pens at stores such as Office Max and CVS. Shopping for new clothes also became a priority and visits to the Plaza, which happened to be in the middle of construction, put some major dents in savings earned from summer jobs. With the addition of fifty transfer students many new faces were seen roaming the halls on the first day. The huge freshman class presented a few problems such as large class sizes and high student to teacher ratios. With up to sixty students packed into Mr. Tricomi's health classes, radiators provided extra seating. Halls filled with bodies navigating to class which made it difficult to get there by the bell. Erin Murphy

Sitting with friends in the cafeteria, Shelly Lowe gets off to a great start on her first day of school. McGrath

The class of 1997 demonstrated its well known spirit of cooperation and determination by organizing into the "97" in record time, twice; once in the usual location and once by the handicap access ramp. McGrath

Jocelyn Smith, Julie Magri and Kristen Speredelozi hurry away from the burning bleachers to begin their afternoon. McGrath

Finally!

After years of being lowly underclassmen, the class of 1997 reached their goal: senior year. "As I sat having my picture taken, I couldn't believel was finally a senior," remarked Phil Ho.

While both enduring the scorching sun of that June afternoon as well as being rushed through the shoot, the class stayed calm. As Kristin Ahern remembered, "It was really hot and everybody wore their sunglasses." Once the group had formed a "97" on the football stadium bleachers, they realized that they had to move over to the side in order to accomedate Dan Smith's wheelchair. Without any difficulty, the students moved and reformed the shape perfectly.

With that McGrath Studios photographer, John Purdy got on his ladder. As Todd Gouthro commented, he " looked like he was about to fall over". But, fortunately, he kept his balance and shot the photo. Thomas Nolan

Lovin It Through It All

What would high school be like without couples? Every day couples walked hand in hand around school. "I think that dating is good because it prepares you for future relationships." remarked Keri Sampson.

Some felt that the affection can become overwhelming. People had very decisive opinions on this subject.. Sean Powers remarked "I dont think people should dispay their intimate relationships in public." But what is wrong with a show of affecton? "I find nothing wrong with people kissing in the halls." Bob Lauria said.

Technically, the school has taken a stand against public affection - including kissing and hugging in the hallways. Needless to say, this is not enforced, and couples may be seen everywhere throughout the school.

No two viewpoints were the same, but all agreed that they are a definite part of school life. Walking down the hall hand in hand, couples may be seen sneaking a few minutes in between classes or hugging in locker sections. What would life be like without them?

Hard Work Pays Off

MONEY TALKS

" You need a job", these are the famous words most teens eventually hear. Teenagers have many expenses. Clothing, cars, CD's, and concert tickets are all very important to teens and so is the money needed to buy them. Asking parents for money is alright sometimes, however during the summer months teens have extra time; time that many use to make some money . Junior Dan Purdy said, "I worked at Bradlees over the summer, it was a great working experience. It taught me how to deal with the public." Junior Patty O'Gara also had a summer job. "I worked at Beacon Tailors on Beacon Hill in Boston. It was fun because the manager was a friend of the family and was very young and energetic."

During the school year many kids have jobs as well, including Jason Long and Mike Ricardo who stated, " We work at FuncoLand and it's more work than you expect it to be." Lori Alves, another person that worked over the summer said, "I found that my boss could be annoying, and sometimes I wanted to do things with my friends at the same time I had to work." Senior Mike Basile summed everything up well by saying, "The long hours, the annoying bosses, the stupid uniforms all become worth it when that check is in the bank." Aine Flaherty and Tim Clark

Katie Dirocco was one of the many students to work at Brigham's in the South Shore Plaza. A. Wheeler

Most students found they were in need of money; junior Karen Attardo got an after school job for the extra cash. Wheeler

Matt Rosen, Jim Dowd, Katie Quirk, and Cole Barry, all part of the Brueggers Bagel Clan, show each other a bit of affection outside of the bakery. McGrath

Danielle Kehoe walked dogs every day after school to make some extra money. J. Rogan

Catherine Keogh enjoyed having a seasonal job at the Plaza . She only had to work a few months of the year . J. Rogan

"If it is expected that we get better grades than we don't have time for jobs." Nick Dunn. McGrath

Jonathan Franklin reveals, "I did have a summer job, but when school started I no longer had the time." K. Fink

Carla Puliafico shared, "I had a job for about two years, then the place where I worked closed, so now I have no money." J. Rogan

"I like working at Coffee Express because its easy and fun." Sharon Blaney Basile

Ed Vena declared, "I don't have time for a job with all my school work and applications." McGrath

That crazy Morning Commute

Any Way You Can

How did you get to school this morning? Most students rode that yellow thing called the bus. Some upperclassman arrived in their most favorite thing or their friend's most favorite thing in the world, their car.

June Beack, "I always bum a ride off of my friend, Jill; since she lives next door, she doesn't mind.. ...I hope."

Marissa Laaperi exclaimed, "My friends all hitch a ride with me." Sara Dunn commented, "I ride with my brother's girlfriend."

Some students arrived with their paents. "Although I have my license, my mother drives me, because she doesn't trust me with the car." Lisa Greco.

"I love to drive. It comes in handy during play rehearsals and when I need to get to work atfer school." said senior Kate McAllister.

"Because of a lack of trust, money and a car, I depend on my friends for rides; but they love me anyway," said Stacey Durfee.

Sophomore Tricia McEachern, "My friend Timmy drives a motorcycle. He drops me off on his way to work. It gets cold.".

While students come to classes in a variety of ways, they all agree that they get to school any way they can.

Bubble Bubble

Toil and Trouble

Crash! Sizzle! Bang! Common sounds in the chemistry, physics, and biology labs. Students performed a variety of labs, making new discoveries every time.

"When we dissected a frog, we found a beetle in its stomach. It was disgusting!" described Michelle Keady.

Sophomore Liz Glynn explained, " I always seem to break stuff in science lab. I guess I'm kind of destructive." she says.

Andrew Wood related, "Once in lab I just got the urge to taste the star fish we were disecting, so I bit off its leg. It tasted crunchy - like the beach."

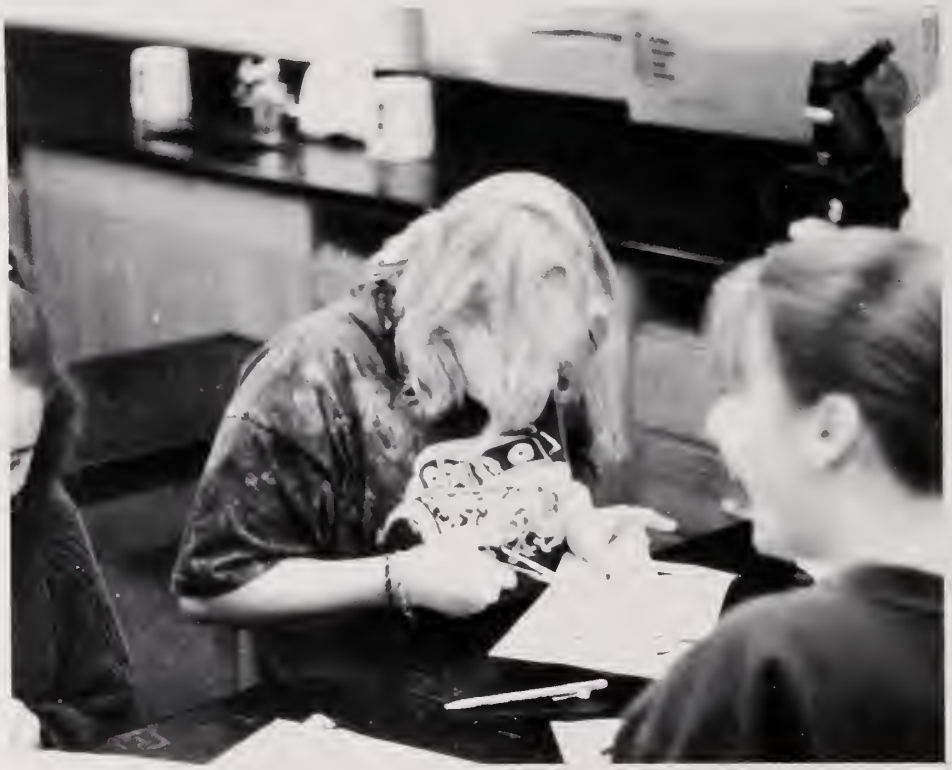

When fire was involved in an experiment, strange occurrances happened. "My classmate accidentally set his math book on fire," related Robert Morris.

" Last spring, in my block 4 class, we set something on fire practically everyday! One day there was a huge fire in the sink and another day some paper caught on fire!" remarked Deanna Levanti.

" I lit myself on fire two years in a row. ." stated Jeff Candura.

Matt Cusack stated, "I found it interesting looking at bacteria under the microscope." After we looked at it we tried to draw what we'd seen on the slide. Katie Toma said"I liked when we measured how the temperaturein hot water decreased over time."appreciated and learned from their labs. Robyn Jennings

Patty O'Gara, Nicole Rakes, and Briana Sweeney have a great time in Biology class while putting together a chromosome lab. B. Mulligan

Laura Jordan and Theresa Wells use "toy" cars to measure speed and distance. M. Basile

Matt Toland records data from an experiment he has conducted in Mr. Cremer's physics class. M. Basile

Using the computer lab required concentration. Colleen Collins puts her keyboarding skills to use. K. Fink

"It's all fun and games until someone loses an eyebrow." Sean Sibson. M. Basile

"Labs are fun and you learn a lot about science." Jill McDonough. M. Basile

"We have all sorts of fun in lab this year in Biology." Jen Giblin McGrath

"Labs allow us more time to do things during class." Kristin Spaulding K.Fink

"Labs are very boring but are essential to understanding science." Michelle Goggin M. Basile

While babysitting on a sunny afternoon, Kerry Mulligan had a great time interacting with her younger cousin. B. Mulligan

Sara Warsheski holds her active cousin for a picture while babysitting for him. B. Mulligan

During the summer, Lila Mueller earned her money by babysitting. B. Mulligan

"I enjoy babysitting. I do a good job taking care of the kids." stated Kevin Worth. B. Mulligan

"I loved watching the children play at the local kindergarten." Robyn Perry. B. Mulligan

"Babysitting is a good way to earn money." remarks Justin Emond. B. Mulligan

"I love babysitting kids. I play board games with them." says Marybeth Ranieri. B. Mulligan

"I spend many nights babysitting for my younger brother." Alena Kerins. B. Mulligan

ADVENTURES IN BABYSITTING

What does crying, screaming, and whining remind you of? Most likley babysitting. Babysitting provides easy money, at first, but you never know what you are getting in to. " Once I was babysitting my younger sister Meghan and she swallowed a leggo. I was terrified! Later, I found out that it only cut her tongue. I earned my babysitting money that time!" says Lauren Wiggin.

Controlling the children is a full-time job for sitters. " It's really hard to get the kids to be quiet. I absolutley hate it when they don't listen to me." states Chris Sullivan.

Games and project ideas are good ideas for babysitting. "Whenever I go babysitting, I usually bring board games and bring stuff for them to do. That keeps them quiet for a while." explains Melissa McLaughlin, .

Before starting a new babysitting job, meeting the kids and family pets is very important. " I was babysitting for a new family and their dog followed me around the house all night and he kept barking whenever I went in to the kitchen. He didn't like me very much." states Amanda Lydon.

Babysitting can be rewarding and enjoyable. " I love it when the kid gives you a hug before you leave because it shows that they like you. I find that the most enjoyable about babysitting." remarked Sarah Forte. Robyn Jennings

Dear Members of the Class of 1997,
Congratulations! Your graduation from Braintree High School is an accomplishment of which you and your parents should be proud.
It is the sincere wish of all of us, teachers, administrators, and support staff alike, that each of you realize your dreams and aspirations. We hope that you feel that the years you spent with us have helped prepare you for what lies ahead in your lives. The paths you take, the strengths you develop, and the services you preform to others will be the true indicators of your total education.

Your class has been special! The individual honors that many of you have recieved both in the academic arena and in extra curricula activities have made large imprints in the history of Braintree High School. The legacy which your class leaves is one that future classes can emulate.
We are very proud of every single one of you and wish each of you only the best. May you find happiness and success in the future and bring credit to your family, our school, and our community.

Sincerely yours,
William S. Wassel
Headmaster

Twenty five years ago Pat Bottiggi decided to work long enough to buy a new washing machine. "I thought that I'd earn enough for the machine and then quit at the end of the year." Needless to say, she did not.. She served as a secretary to many different departments, including several headmasters.

Terry Lungari bids the secretarial life goodbye after 27 years. She worked most of her career as a house 2 secretary with John Hopkins.

These four individuals influenced many, and though they have retired, will remain in the minds of all who knew them.

LONG DAYS JOURNEY

The days were long and hectic as students juggled their time between school and activities. Weekend days were often given up for part time jobs and students could be seen at the Plaza and other local businesses working long hours on Fridays and Saturdays. Students worked in order to save money for college and to keep their cars on the road. Junior Aine Flaherty commented, "Sometimes I have to work until ten thirty or eleven on weekends, but I usually go out afterwards."

Tommy Kendrick enjoys his free as he sits and talks with friends. McGrath

Homework ranked top priority for most students after school even with interferences from jobs and sports. "I usually have to stay up until eleven on school nights to get my homework done because I work so much," remarked Marisa Vella.

Of course the journey through high school wouldn't be complete without making time for friends. Going out to eat, to the movies, or just renting videos and lounging were favorite activities. Erin Murphy

Summer Blues

Summer - the term flashes visions of the beach, hours of free time , and the absence of teachers and tests. A resting period after a long stretch of hard work and hours of homework, these two school free months are a recharging period for the coming school year, says sophomore Meekyi Tung. Kerry Saniuk added , "Waking up at 7:30 for double sessions was definitely a change from sleeping 'til noon, but you get used to it, and then you're prepared to get up on the first day of school."

School returns too quickly for most students. "Summer was fun. I didn't want it to end," says Karin Chilstedt.

The coming of the new school year can bring resolutions, whether to join the track team or improve grades. "I want to pass," was Katie Murphy's declaration.

Those hours of free time can help prepare students, as well as the faculty, for the work ahead in the new school year. Janine Tangney

First Day Jitters

WELCOME BACK!

Freshmen, welcome to your new school.Seniors welcome to your final year. Sophomores and juniors, welcomed one another back. Walking into the building, high school veterans noticed the new "rugless pit." Newcomers, such as freshmen Dena Appleton, and Michelle Gregoir, noticed new faces, "The South boys were a great find ."

New clothes, new teachers ,and new classes caused some first day jitters , Junior Julie Diamond said, " I was nervous because I heard junior year is the toughest of all." But by the end of the day, students, including Chad Bennet a three year veteran, had relaxed, "It was a lot more fun than I thought it would be, I have good people in my classes."

The first day of school was an anticipated success. And students were welcomed back, ready to start. Aine Flaherty

Promgoers showed up in the mood to dance and have a blast and that's exactly what happened. The pit was transformed into a striking scene of red, black, and silver balloons, streamers, and other decorations. "I'll Stand By You" was the theme of the prom, however many people found that it was more fun to work the room than to stand by their dates! "Some of the guys were upset because their dates kept dancing with other people," recalled Andrea Wheeler.

Everyone was footloose and some pretty funky moves were seen on the dance floor. Sharon Blaney remarked, "We all did 'The Grind' video workout!"

The night was made memorable mostly because of the good things that happened, however there were a few of those dreaded embarassing scenes that never fail to show up at prom time. Winning Week

Bright plaids, blue and white, college sweatshirts all mean one thing - Spirit Week at Braintree High School. Students and teachers alike joined together to celebrate school spirit. The week began with hat day, followed by t-shirt and jeans day, college sweatshirt day, plaid day, and concluded with blue and white day. "Plaid day was fun because every one was wearing their pajamas!" Jeff Fong commented. Some wished to change the days. "I think they should alternate the days each year, like not have plaid day," Michael Scott said.

Students decorated themselves excessively for the occasion. Sarah Cawley and Steve Manning were elected the students showing the most school spirit. Indian headresses and blue and white face makeup were worn by many students on the day of the pep rally.

It was a wonderful week that allowed students to express their excitement about their school. Michelle Bernesconi expressed it perfectly, "It was fun because it showed how much students paricipated during the week." Janine Tangney

Plenty of Pep

Blue, white, and lots of cheer reminded students of the annual pep rally and football game. Students wore outfits in blue and white, while adding their own unique touch to their ensamble. " All of the outfits looked great. One kid even had streamers coming off of his hat." commented Kaitlin Renolyds.

School spirit was definitely shown during the pep rally. The dance team was spectacular with their new routine. " I was impressed by how hard the dance team practiced, the results showed." remarked Sean Sibson.

Band members and other pep rally participants agreed that the band never played the school song with as much enthusiasm. Eileen Kelly commented, " We all tried our best and our work payed off. I don't think we have ever sounded this good."

The football fans filled the air with screams, hollers, and praise . Though the Wamps tried their best, they lost the game 26 to 13. " I feel bad because we lost, but at least the team had great effort and cooperation." said Natalie Wong. Despite the loss, the crowd cheered on.

Out of this World

To go or not to go. That is the question-most frequently asked by students around mid-October. The question is, of course, whether or not to go to the annual Homecoming Dance. Students also questioned whether to go with a date or without. Some, like senior Robyn Perry, thought that going without a date, or "stag" was the way to go. She shared, " I went to the dance with a date my first two years and although I had a good time I decided to try going alone last year. I had so much fun that I decided to do the same this year." Sophomore Jim Hadley disagreed, saying, "I like going with a date. That way you know you will always have someone to dance with." Just preparing for the dance can be a production. Katie Murphy shared, "I saw Maria Ginty, Katie Ridlon and Lisa Grealish running through the Plaza 15 minutes before the dance began to have their picture done at Sears!"

The dance's theme was Castle and the song was Satellite. "Although I did not care for the music I thought the gym looked great and I loved the drawbridge entrance." said Michelle Keady. The music may not have been great in everyone's opinion but almost everyone had fun.

LONG DAYS JOURNEY

Working day after day in classes and after school on homework gave way to high grades and outstanding achievements. Seniors fought for a high class rank with difficulty because of increased competition among students in the class. With Eleven National Merit Scholars and Adam Ruprecht and Gretchen Stevens receiving perfect scores, achievements were at an all time high. Also, approximately fifty students were members of the National Honor Society compared to thirty last year.

SAT's and report cards weren't the only outstanding aspects of students' accomplishments. One example is Ed Vena, who rebuilt and set up computers in the science rooms. Students pushed for success and worked to their full potential to complete the journey through the year. Erin Murphy

AHEAD OF THE GAME...

AND WINNING

A+, A+, A+!! Apparently these students never drop below an A. Achievers in the academic areas excelled, bringing respect from other students and faculty members. Successes ranged from gaining honor roll status to becoming a National Merit Semifinalist.

A peak in academic life were the National Merit Scholarships. The number of National Merit Semifinalists created a new record, with eight students achieving this status. The following students were Semifinalists: Anne Hutchinson, Martha Kelehan, Meghan Lydon, Niera Marshall, Eileen Murray, and Laurie Nelson. Two further semifinalists, Adam Ruprecht and Gretchen Stevens, received perfect scores. Students must score in the top 1% to be a semifinalist. The winner would have most, or all, of their college tuition paid for. Adam Ruprecht explained the phenomena modestly, "We're just a statistical blip."

The Science Fair provided another avenue for distinction with awards given on the school, regional, state, and national levels. Gina Antoniou, Mandy Boehmer, and Hadley Tassanari placed first in this event.

Another example of high achievers may be found in Abby Franklin. She was the sole winner out of the entire school to win a trip to Wisconsin for a Social Studies project. These students, whose dedication and hard work have certainly become evident, have rightly been recognized for their talent. They deserve the term which seems all too fitting for them - the title of "Academic Achievers." Janine Tangney

Straying Eyes

Cheating, the evil underside of the ever intensifying diploma race. The halls were dotted with kids copying friends' homework. Or perhaps a review sheet stayed in clear view during a test because the theate practice ran overtime. Students felt that dishonest behavior was present, but not rampant. Sophomore Michelle Donahue remarked that, "For people to trade homework or tell each other what is on a test seems to be a daily occurence." Homework copying remained the most common complaint. Even testing fell victim to this problem. Justin Emond, another sophomore, felt, "Given the oppurtunity kids are less than honest on a test." Looking at the paper in front of you or beside were the most common methods.

Eli Charles had a suggestion, "If you can't handle the work you get , maybe you should go for extra help, or move to a more appropriate level." The majority of the student body felt victimized by the dishonesty of others , as it affects the school as a whole. Geoff Stevens shared, "Cheating is nothing more than false grades. When people cheat you never know how the school is doing." Most cheaters knew what they were doing was wrong but they defended themselves by reminding us that it ends up hurting them the most. Sophomore Jen Kerner reminded, "Cheating is wrong, and when the SATs come it will all catch up with you." Tim Clark

Field Work

ON THE ROAD

Most learning in life happens outside of the confines of school. Students gain first hand knowledge of their subjects on field trips from as close as Boston to as far as Florida.

One trip in particular occurred in August where selected students from James Nolan's junior Humanities class visited the United Nations and tour New York City. After giving speeches on the future of the United Nations, Jeff Candura, Stephanie Harris, Li Min Liang and Thomas Nolan left for a trip they would never forget.

The group joined other Massachusetts students on the bus and later met people from all over North America. As Jeff Candura stated later, "The best part of the trip was that we got to meet a lot of different people from different places." The New York trip was highlighted by VIP tours and speeches from U.N. staff, as well as such sights as the Empire State building and Madison Square Garden.

In the end, Mr. Nolan gave his opinion of what the trip offered. "I think it broadens their appreciation of the world and of the United States."

Spanish classes also went to the New England Aquarium. But, as Mike Basile commented "After twenty minutes we left and went to Fanuel Hall because the Aquarium was really boring."

Another, more memorable trip was the Art department's journey to the Roger William's Zoo in Providence. Young artists from the school had great opportunities to fill their sketchbooks with observational drawings. In the relatively short amount of time that they were there, students got to see and draw such animals as elephants, ostriches and everyone's favorite, monkeys.

Overall, this year's field trips were truly educational experiences. Thomas Nolan

Striving for Success

AN ALTERNATIVE ROUTE

" It's our last chance to suceed, " said junior Steve Roth. Each student that enters the alternatives program makes the decision to change their ways and do it the right way, in school.

" Alternatives is a place to go when everyone else thinks you've failed," claimed Lauren Hutcheon. The alternatives program teaches structure and respect with the highest emphasis on receiving an education through hardwork and commitement. In addition to forming positive relationships with all the teachers as well as students in the program, alternatives prepares you for your future and leaves you with a positive feeling about yourself , a feeling that you can succeed even when everyone else thinks you can't. One alternative teacher, Mr. Driscoll stated, " Over 90% of the kids in alternatives succeed." That's what alternatives is about.

LONG DAYS JOURNEY

By getting involved in clubs, students were able to make huge contributions to the school and the town. Clubs were a way for students to come together, make a difference and have fun all at the same time. Not only did each group help make school a better place to be, they also benefited the town by volunteering and raising money for organizations.

The student council came up with some new fundraisers, such as the Mr. BHS pageant, which was a huge success. The newest addition to the clubs at Braintree High was the Braintree Rain Forest Initiative Club, headed by Mr. Moon. Other groups such as S.A.D.D. and Key Club included over fifty members, which showed student's outstanding interest in community issues. Erin Murphy

"It's hard practicing for almost three hours a day but it pays off when we win a game," commented field hockey player Julie Diamond. Most students who played a sport dreaded long hours of practice, however for most teams, the extra effort was worth it in the end. The football team had one of their best seasons with Paul O'Keefe, Brendan Curry, and Joe Pendergast being named Bay State All Stars and Matt Dorn receiving an honorable mention.

The girl's volleyball team also did amazingly well with only two losses out of seventeen games. The cheerleaders came out on top, as well, placing second in a state competition. Almost all teams improved their records, and the players' spirit and drive helped achieve every goal. Erin Murphy

LONG DAYS JOURNEY

The community underwent considerable changes with newly paved roads, the Plaza expansion, and many new stores and restaurants around town.

In the rush to get to school every morning, journeying through town was most often no small feat. Students were forced to wait in long lines of traffic due to road construction.

The Plaza attracted attention because of the huge expansion project. A second floor and new stores were added to shopper's delights.

New restaurants and stores popped up everywhere such as Chili's, Bugaboo Creek, and K Mart.

Although large projects and construction sometimes presented problems in town, the new additions proved worth it.

Volume 55 of the Wampatuck was published in a limited edition of 275 copies, with 156 pages and a soft cover supplement with the spring activities was delivered in the fall. The books were printed by Herf Jones, 525 Boyd School Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325.

The edition cost approximately $13,500 to publish and contained 16 pages of color. Individual copies were sold for $41 prior to December 18. Name stamping was available at $3.00 a book.

The cover was designed by Cody Oliva on MacPaint and adapted by plant artists on Adobe Illustrator. The cover was printed in a four-color litho process.

The book was produced using Aldus Pa gemaker 4.2 and 5.0 on a variety of Macintosh models and an Apple Personal LaserWriter. All copy was done using MacWrite II. Typography were produced exclusively in the times font.

Portrait photography was handled by McGrath Studios, 1 Perkins Ave., Brockton, MA. 02401. McGrath studios also shot candid photos for clubs and organizations. Photographers John Rogan, Mike Basile, Andrea Wheeler, and Beth Mulligan did the remaining candid photography that appeared in the book.

Mrs. Joan Carroll was the advisor. Ms. Noreen Sullivan was the business advisor. Erin Murphy was the editor in chief and the layout designer; Tom Nolan was the ad editor; Jim Hadley was the sports editor; Janine Tangney was the copy and people editor; Tim Clark was the Student life editor; and David Ringius was responsible for business management

The Braintree High School Yearbook is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, the National Scholastic Press Association and Yankee Pen. The Wampatuck has received many awards in the past from CSPA and NSPA.

TELETHON FOR HOPE

Mike Foley has been through a lot. After battling bone cancer for a year of his life, he is now trying to help others. Mike was on the WBZ Children's Hospital Telethon in January. He told his success story to all the children currently battling cancer to show them that there is hope. He emphasized that as long as they have hope, they can make it through, no matter how bad things seem to get. Mike has been healthy for two years and is doing just fine. M. Foley

FOOTBALL STADIUM

The movement of Foxborough Stadium is causing a great upheaval in Boston. Bob Kraft proposed a plan to build a new stadium in South Boston, but Boston residents are agaonst this plan . Mayor Menino is hoping to postpone the vote until after the Superbowl to get an accurate vote. B. Mulligan

PATRIOTS

In this year's Super Bowl, there's something more exciting than those humorous commercials: The New England Patriots! After the regular season, they got by in the first round of the playoffs. Then the Pittsburgh Steelers came to town. After demolishing the massive front line of the Steelers, they made it to the AFC Championship game only to defeat the Jacksonville Jaguars in a triumphant victory and won their right to go to the Big Dance in New Orleans. Despite an optimistic first quarter, Green Bay won with a 14 point spread, 35-21. JAMBALAYA!!! J.Hadley

EVITA

Much hype surrounded the release of Evita, starring Madonna. The Argentines felt that Madonna was not worthy of depicting the life of their beloved Eva Peron. Madonna, however, proved them wrong by putting on a stellar performance that left many in tears. Evita, the glorious story of Eva Peron, could be the revival of the American musical in film. J.Rogan

SUMMER OLYMPICS
The honor of having the Summer Olympics in Atlanta was shattered by an explosion that rocked the city. In an attempt to ruin the festivities, the bomb only drew each country closer together in this time of peril. The participants vowed not to let this act of violence ruin their spirits. The athletes bound together and triumphed over a terrorist's attempt to create chaos. J.Rogan

A VIOLENT END
John Salvi, who barged into Brookline Planned Parenthood Clinic and shot two receptionists, was sentenced to life in prison for his gruesome act. Months later, he made headlines again when he was found dead in his cell. He had apparently put a plastic bag over his head and bound his hands in slip knots. His death shocked everyone, but dissapointed the families of his victims, who would have liked to see him pay for his crimes. J.Rogan

EAST BRAINTREE PLAYGROUND

People at Watson Park are having a lot more fun these days. With the help of a massive community fund raising drive and the efforts of Aucoin Construction the park now has a new playground. For years locals to the area had asked for the town to fund the renovation, but this year they finally decided to take up the job themselves. So, in early September, under gloomy skies, an army of volunteers converged to build the new playground that is now being enjoyed by all. T.Clark

GROWING PAINS

The expansion of the Plaza and the addition of K-Mart to Braintree have caused many problems to the town. The K-Mart project caused protests against the use of non-union workers. The Plaza expansion caused horrendous traffic problems everywhere from Five Corners to Common Street. This road construction was a small price to pay in exchange for the new additions to Braintree. OUT WITH A BANG

Students noticed that Canadian geese no longer flocked around the fields. A hunt was held on several fall weekends at the Braintree Municipal Golf Course to reduce the geese population. Only licensed hunters acting according to federal and state laws were able to participate. The shoot became a lightening rod of controversy within the community. R.Jennings

ONLINE FRUSTRATION

After its much anticipated switch to a flat rate billing, America Online hit a rather large bump in the road, a $20 million bump. After AOL let members use the service for an unlimited number of hours for $19.95 per month, users stayed online longer. Some even left their computers on AOL nonstop. Consequently phone lines used to log onto AOL caused it to clog up. A group of five Californian subscribers, fed up with this poor service, sued AOL . The plaintiffs claimed that AOL executives knew that the change would result in faulty service.

TOP CELEBS

Music, an essential part of teenage life devours large sums of job money in concert tickets, cd's, and clothing. The top entertainers of the industry come from an array of different styles, includingalternative bands and singers. Some top bands and singers are Alanis Morrisette, Marilyn Manson, Garbage, Oasis, Cranberries, and Smashing Pumpkins. Pop and R/B also have chart toppers, such as veteran singers Mariah Carey and Madonna. A. Wheeler

BHS GOES PUBLIC

In yet another move to improve school awareness, Richard Yazbeck looked into Cablevision 31. He and Howard Mak talked to program managers Steve Casco and Steve Innis about getting a public access show of their own. This show will discuss current events in school with footage at BHS, as well as in the Cablevision studio. After finishing a six week course Howard and Richard were ready to begin filming with Richard as the host and Howard as the technical director. T.Nolan

CREEP AND BEEP

Since day one, the expansion of the South Shore Plaza was chaotic. Blocked off roads and construction on the made drivers upset and impatient. All of the roadwork is made possible because Braintree recieved an enormous sum of money from the government for street repairs. The good outcome is that we will have repaired roads to travel on and the traffic will not be as hectic. M. Basile

PSYCHIC PHENOMENA

Although Open Doors, a trendy shop in Braintree Square, has been open for more than one year, until recently it has not been allowed to "sell" psychic readings. Some residents did not approve of a psychic in the neighborhood and took owner, Richard Lanza to court. After quite a battle, Lanza was given premission to use his talent legally. Believers and mystics alike are thrilled! A. Flaherty

WOUND TO THE HEART

Twenty seven year old Ennis William Cosby was killed on a Los Angeles roadside on January 16, 1997 in what Americans view as senseless tragedy. He was the only son of actor Bill Cosby. Cosby had paused at the side of the road to change a flat tire. Minutes later, a mysterius man left Cosby dead with a gunshot wound to the head. Two generations of tv viewers had grown to love Bill Cosby and admire the family values which his shows promoted. His son's death shocked and saddened Americans of all ages. J. Tangney

SECOND TIME ROUND

Bill Clinton was inaugurated for his second term as president on January 20, 1997. It was the first time in 60 years that a democrat has served a second term. He beat out the competition, including Bob Dole, in November. His approval rating was 15 %, as taken by a Times/ CBS poll. J. Tangney

FLASH IN THE SKY
In mid-July ,just before the opening of the Olympics in Atlanta, Georgia, TWA flight 800 crashed off of the coast of Long Island, New York, killing all of the passengers and its crew members. Rockets, bombs, and oxygen tanks were all explored as possible causes. Although terrorism was not considered the likely reason, it has not been ruled out. No true cause has been determined. T. Nolan

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN...
On October 20 and 21, 1996, New England was pounded by rain as the skies opened up and a massive rainstorm caused flooding, property and foundation damage, as well as causing large areas of power outages lasting up to ten days in some communities. Football practice ended early on Monday, giving players an opportunity to dive into the deep muddy puddles. Weather reports declared that had the rain been snow, it would have amounted to over 100 inches. D. Ringius
